

It doesn't take a rocket scientist to detect the fact that there is an increasing lack of investigative journalism in this country focused on subjects that those in power don't want discussed. The dangers to a free democratic society that depends on free, open information flow cannot be overstated. I strongly oppose any lessening of restrictions on media outlet ownership.